chris.levkulich@moyewhite.com

Chris provides tax planning advice to businesses and their owners. He advises on matters relating to the taxation of corporations and partnerships, entity formation, mergers and acquisitions, private equity investments, asset sales, operations, and real estate transactions. Chris also counsels individuals in estate planning and general income tax matters.

Prior to joining Moye White, Chris worked for a local firm specializing in tax matters and practiced as a CPA at a Big Four accounting firm. Chris's tenure as a CPA provides him with a unique perspective on the tax and financial reporting aspects of business transactions.

Chris enjoys spending time with his family, golfing, fly fishing, and watching all of Colorado's sports teams.
